Studying the Bachelor of Engineering (Honours) at RMIT

The Bachelor of Engineering (Honours) degree allows students the opportunity to explore the fundamentals of engineering — science, mathematics, design, and more — before selecting a specialisation.

Students gain a wealth of engineering skills and knowledge, and through their elective subjects are exposed to a range of specialisations.

Upon successful completion of their first year of this program, students will be required to move into one of the specialised engineering degrees listed below:

- Bachelor of Engineering \(Advanced Manufacturing and Mechatronics\) \(Honours\)
- Bachelor of Engineering \(Biomedical Engineering\) \(Honours\)
- Bachelor of Engineering \(Mechanical Engineering\) \(Honours\)
- Bachelor of Engineering \(Computer and Network Engineering\) \(Honours\)
- Bachelor of Engineering \(Electrical Engineering\) \(Honours\)
- Bachelor of Engineering \(Civil and Infrastructure\) \(Honours\)
- Bachelor of Engineering \(Aerospace Engineering\) \(Honours\)
- Bachelor of Engineering \(Chemical Engineering\) \(Honours\)
- Bachelor of Engineering \(Environmental Engineering\) \(Honours\)

RMIT is ranked among the top 8 universities in Australia for engineering, according to the QS World University Rankings by Subject.

The VCE prerequisites for entry are Units 3 and 4 with a study score of at least 27 in English (EAL) or at least 25 in English other than EAL, and Units 3 and 4 with a study score of at least 20 in in one of Maths: General Mathematics, Maths: Mathematical Methods or Maths: Specialist Mathematics. This course has a guaranteed entry ATAR of 75.00 in 2026.

Further information can be found at Bachelor of Engineering \(Honours\).

Study to become a Cabin Crew Member

A qualification in aviation is your passport to success. Get a start in this competitive industry with technical, health and safety, and risk management training

William Angliss Institute offers the Certificate III in Aviation \(Cabin Crew\) at its Melbourne Campus. This is a 6-month course and students get to go on industry-based excursions and learning experiences, strengthening their employability with this industry-approved course.

In addition, students experience –

- Practical training and assessment in an Australian training facility used by major airlines.
- Learn and grow alongside a cohort of passionate new aviation enthusiasts in the heart of the city.
- Look the part, students will receive full corporate uniform along with a name badge (additional costs apply).

Applicants must note that Australian based airlines have a minimum height requirement of 160cm (without shoes) and require a reach of 212cm to be employed as a cabin crew/flight attendant. Students who do not meet these requirements should take into consideration that this will affect their employability as a cabin crew/flight attendant with an Australian airline. International airlines may have different requirements.

Go behind the scenes at the World Surf League Rip Curl Pro

As the Official Higher Education Partner of the World Surf League Australia, Bond University is proud to invite Year 11 and 12 students to take an exclusive behind-the-scenes tour of one of international surfing's biggest events.

During a backstage tour, students will explore the athlete spaces, judging area, media and broadcast area and operations control room, then enjoy watching surfing royalty battle it out from the best seats in the house.

This experience offers front-row seats to a full lineup of careers from sport management to marketing, events, exercise and sports science, business, journalism, film and television and project management. A Bond University representative will be on site to answer any questions students might have about Bond.

Date: Friday 3 April 2026

Time: 10.00am

Location: Bells Beach, Victoria

Career as a Dental Technician

SEEK states that a Dental Technician works in dental laboratories making of models of the mouth and teeth from impressions taken by dental care professionals such as Dentists and Dental Prosthetists.

Dental Technicians use techniques including plaster casting, wax modelling and metal casting. Dental Technicians work closely with Dentists and Dental Prosthetists and usually have no direct contact with patients.

Australian Dental Technicians are generally expected to have completed a tertiary level qualification. The minimum standard is generally a Diploma of Dental Technology.

1. Complete a Diploma of Dental Technology through a TAFE or registered training organisation.
2. Consider further study to broaden your skillset, such as a Bachelor of Dental Technology.
3. It may also be possible to become a Dental Technician through an apprenticeship or traineeship in dental technology.

Holmesglen Institute offers the 2-year Diploma of Dental Technology course. This practical, hands-on course covers the design, manufacture, and repair of dental appliances, including dentures, bridges, crowns, and mouthguards.

Training takes place in purpose-built dental laboratories with industry-standard equipment and support from qualified dental technicians and prosthetists.

Physiotherapist, Chiropractor, Osteopath and Myotherapist

A frequently asked question is what the difference is between the roles of physiotherapists, chiropractors, osteopaths, and Myotherapists.

So, what is the difference? In November 2020 an article by Charlotte Ganderton and Matthew King was published on the ABC website addressing this very topic, and the fact that all four types of therapy come highly recommended to assist people in managing their aches and pains. To sum up the article –

In Australia, physiotherapists, osteopaths and chiropractors have extensive university training and are registered with the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA). Myotherapists complete an advanced diploma or bachelor's degree in myotherapy or "musculoskeletal therapy" but are not registered with AHPRA.

The article goes on to state that a physiotherapist assesses your problem, provides a diagnosis, and helps you understand what's wrong while considering your general health, activities, and lifestyle. They treat your complaint with a variety of "active" therapies, such as exercise programs and hydrotherapy.

A chiropractor works on the diagnosis, treatment and prevention of mechanical disorders of the muscles, ligaments, tendons, bones and joints, and the effect on the nervous system. They have an emphasis on passive manual treatments, including joint and soft-tissue manipulation, and spinal adjustments. They may also prescribe exercises to help you rehabilitate from your condition as well as provide dietary advice.

An osteopath focuses on the muscular and nervous systems, assessing the structure of the body to determine its impact on function. Treatment involves a combination of active and passive therapies, including joint manipulation and mobilisation, massage, as well as postural advice and exercise programs.

Finally, a myotherapist works to assist your aches and pains by focusing on the muscles and joints. They offer a range of mostly "hands-on" treatments including dry needling, massage, and joint mobilisation, but can also prescribe exercises.

Students can access the full article at Physiotherapist, chiropractor, osteopath and myotherapist: what's the difference and which one should I visit?
