Momentum Hub - Here to help young people's mental health

Momentum Hub is a new, free digital mental health platform that brings evidence-informed assessment, treatments and tools to young Australians (7-17 years).

Young people can self-refer to Momentum Hub, complete a short Momentum check-up and receive a personalised self-help program based on Cognitive-Behaviour Therapy. It provides help for common mental health issues including anxiety and depression as well as related difficulties like sleep problems, healthy lifestyles and substance use.

The platform was developed by UniSQ researchers, in collaboration with our partner Universities and organisations. UniSQ Professor and Psychologist, Sonja March, led the development of the Momentum platform, co-designed by hundreds of young people, parents, and mental health professionals. The unprecedented demand for mental health care and her previous work on the successful BRAVE anxiety program which has reached over 90,000 families, inspired Professor March to launch the new platform.
